City Clerk John Hauenschield has received a set of blank forms from the state board of accounts with instructions to make a report regarding the city finances. The blanks, when properly filled out, will be returned to the accounting board and will become a part of the record which is kept on file in that office. The accounting board requires that the reports be made very accurately, as they are used for reference by the chief accountant.

The report which the city clerk has prepared covers the finances of the city for the past year, and contains some very interesting facts. It is shown that at the beginning of the year of 1910 there was a balance in the city treasurer of $2,558.43. From January 1 until December 31, a total sum of $59,782.73 was received making the total amount received $62,341.16. During the year the disbursements of the city were $55,374.61 leaving a balance in the treasurer at the beginning of 1911 of $6,946.55.

The balance is divided into three separate funds as follows: general fund, $13.98; sinking fund, $5,355.46; sewer fund, $1,577.11. From the general fund the general expenses of the city departments are paid, and as the appropriation is made from an estimate of about the sum the various departments will need, the balance is usually small. The sinking fund is maintained in order that the municipality may have money to pay off the bonded indebtedness from time to time as the bonds fall due. The money in the sewer fund is to pay the expenses of building new sewers and making the necessary repairs.

The report which will be filed with the accounting board will show that the city had a bonded indebtedness of $39,000 at the close of the year. $4,000 of this sum was invested for bonds to secure money to locate the automobile factory which remained here but a short time. Since the first of the year half of this amount has been paid off leaving a balance of $2,000 in this series. These bonds bear interest at the rate of five per cent.

There are also $15,000 in what are known as the city building bonds. The money for which these were sold was used to erect the city hall. This series bears five per cent interest annually.

The third series of bonds known as the refunding East Side Park bonds, was issued for $20,000. This money was used to purchase the lots now occupied by the Greeman Furniture Factory and those upon which the automobile factory was constructed. These bonds were refunded only a few years ago. This amount will also be reduced on February 25, when $2,000 of the amount will be paid, which with the $2,000 which was paid on January 1, 1911, will leave the total amount of bonded indebtedness, $35,000. The $4,000 is all that will be paid this year.

It is estimated that the total value of the real estate owned by the city will amount to $31,400. The property owned by the city in the East Side Park has an estimated value of $1,700. The improvements, consisting of the automobile building, is valued at $3,500. The city park is estimated to be worth $10,000, although that is considerable less than the city would take for the land if it were on the market. A value of $3,000 is placed upon lots where the city building is erected, and the building is estimated at $13,000. The city also owns a small lot in the Third ward which is valued at $200.

The personal property of the municipality, consisting of the furniture in the city hall, the equipment in the fire department, tools in the street department, and several other articles, has an estimate value of several thousand dollars.

OBJECTS TO BILL.

Representative Branaman Votes to Kill Ratliff Measure.

Representative Branaman, of this county, is opposed to the bill which prohibits children under sixteen years of age to enter moving picture shows unless accompanied by their parents. The measure was introduced by Representative Ratliff.

The bill was taken up again Wednesday and passed to engrossment. In advocating the passage of the bill Representative Ratliff declared 50,000 children attend moving picture shows in Indianapolis each week. He said many innocent girls have come to grief as the result of making improper acquaintances at moving picture theatres. Representative Keegan suggested that the restriction might have an opposite effect, because if girls were forbidden to attend picture shows they might be tempted to enter other more questionable places of amusements.

Afternoon Tea.

Miss Agnes McCoy, whose marriage to G. Rudolph Miller will take place next week, was the guest of honor at a high tea, yesterday afternoon given by Mrs. Albert A. Ogle, Jr., and Mrs. Harry Heinrich at Mrs. Ogle's home in Woodruff Place. The guests were seated at one table where the appointments were in green and white. A mass of white roses and narcissus formed the center decoration and about the flowers were white candles in silver candlesticks. The favors were white satin roses and the place cards were pen sketches in Cupid designs made by Mrs. Ogle, each design being particularly suited to the guest. Mrs. Ogle and Mrs. Heinrich were assisted by Mrs. A. A. Ogle, Sr., and their guests with Miss McCoy, were Miss Ethel Duncan, Miss Giver Giverny, Miss Catherine McCoy, Miss Sallie Tomlinson, Miss Edna Fisher, Miss Maude Essex, Miss Ethel Blackledge, Mrs. Harold C. Curtis and Miss Lenora Stanfield of Seymour.—Indianapolis Star.

Two Boys Enter James Delmas' Candy Kitchen.

Two boys entered the candy kitchen of James Delmas at the rear of A. Sciarra's tailoring establishment about 8:30 o'clock Wednesday evening, but were frightened away before they found the supplies of sweet meats. P. Colobano, who also has a shoe repairing shop in the rear of the store heard a noise back of the partition dividing the kitchen from his repair shop, and after investigating saw the boys moving slowly about the room. He asked them what they wanted, but as soon as they heard him call ran from the room. Mr. Delmas came in a short time later and found that they had broken the lock.

The boys seemed intent upon finding some of the candy and about an hour later returned and broke the glass in the door and started to draw the bolt when they were frightened away.

WELLS STILL AFTER ACCOUNTING BILL

Representative From Scott County Would Have Three Men With Equal Power on Board.

HONAN INTERESTED IN LAW

Would Revise Present Measure So That Prosecutors Would Collect Amounts Charged Due.

Representative Samuel B. Wells, of Scott county, is still making a fight to amend the public accounting law so that there may be three men on the board instead of one.

Several members met Thursday evening for a discussion of the Wells bill and the Yarling bill passed by the Senate. The Yarling bill, written by Attorney General Honan, is designed to take the work of collecting money from officials held to be short by the accounting board, out of the hands of the attorney general and place it in those of the prosecuting attorneys. Some of the members who attended declined to discuss the meeting or say what will be done with the Wells bill. Chairman Corr of the judicial committee has repeatedly stated that the bill will come out of the committee. Charges are being made in the House that the committee is attempting to smother the bill.

Representative Wells is not pressing his fight as hard as he did. Wells drew up a resolution calling upon Mr. Dehority to give information which he and Representative Faris discovered was not in the second report which Examiner Dehority made to the Legislature pursuant to the Wells and Faris resolutions adopted early in the session. Notwithstanding that he had his resolution ready Thursday Mr. Wells did not introduce it.

There has been some discussion as to whether a satisfactory settlement of the fight to secure a modification of the law so as to prevent its being misused could be brought about through the amendment of the Yarling bill with the essential provisions of the Wells bill. Wells already has abandoned his efforts to secure a reduction in the salary of the state examiner so as to make it equal with those of the other two members of the Accounting Board. He has written several amendments which he submitted to the Judiciary Committee to be incorporated in the Yarling bill, but at the same time he stated that he did not believe the Yarling bill "could be amended satisfactorily."

It has been pointed out by others that the Yarling bill may be amended with the amendments proposed by Wells and then the title be amended so as to cover the amendments written into the bill. It was declared last night that the committee would either amend the Yarling bill or rewrite the Wells bill. Five days have gone by, however, since Chairman Corr of the committee promised Representative Faris and other members of the House that the committee would take the matter up and report out a bill that would be satisfactory to all concerned.

The amendments submitted to the committee by Representative Wells provide that the State Board of Accounts shall be composed of three members with equal power. There is no provision for a reduction in the chief examiner's salary. Two members of the board shall constitute a majority.

Another amendment submitted by Wells is that the report of the examiners shall not be accepted alone as prima facie evidence in court, but must be supported by the testimony of the examiners. Another amendment reduces the number of field examiners to twenty, and provides that only ten shall be picked from one of the two dominant political parties.

The salary of the field examiners is reduced in this amendment from $10 a day to $6 a day. Another amendment provides that there shall be no examination of the books of an official for the period prior to Jan. 1, 1910, unless ordered by the Governor upon petition of 100 constituents of the official.

DIXON EXPLAINS REASON

Says Seymour Census Could not be Changed Because of Final Report

Congressman Lincoln Dixon, with whom the question of changing the census of Seymour was referred, has written to City Treasurer C. W. Burkart, that the department found it impossible to change the figures since it would be necessary to alter the census report for the United States. This was announced several months ago, and the census bureau did not feel warranted in revising their report.

Congressman Dixon said that the census director did not doubt that the census as taken by the citizens was correct but did not have any way to substitute the figures unless the entire report was changed. This was similar to the reason given by the department for not changing the report.

SOUTHEASTERN OFFICIALS

Announcement has been made by H. P. Radley, general freight and passenger agent of the Southeastern Line of the appointment of the following officials of the traffic department: J. T. Fagan, general agent, and T. B. English, traveling freight agent, Terre Haute. C. V. Link, general agent, Bedford, Ind.

It is rumored that the shops of the Southeastern Line may be removed from Bedford to Terre Haute. At Bedford, however, the opinion is that part of the shops may be moved to some other point but that the company will continue them much as they are at this time.

ANNUAL PASSES

Will Be Issued by B. & O. S-W. to Freight and Ticket Agents.

General Manager A. W. Thompson, of the Baltimore and Ohio Railroad, has issued a circular that the management has decided to issue annual card passes to all freight and ticket agents who have been in the service for a period of three years or more. The passes are to be made good over the Superintendent's division on which the agent is now employed and will be sent to the agents as soon as they can be prepared. The new order will not in any way curtail the availability of annual passes that an agent may now hold.

At the beginning of this year announcement was made by General Manager Thompson that the Baltimore and Ohio management would issue annual card passes, good anywhere on the grand division on which they live, to all employees on the retired list. This latter order was received with gratification by the veterans.

WOMEN TAKE PICTURES TO RID CITY OF SMOKE.

Unightly Places In Your Town Can Be Removed by Camera.

Clubwomen, the wives and daughters of wealthy St. Louisans, armed with cameras, recently made pictures of chimneys that smoke in the campaign to rid the city of its murky atmosphere. All photographs will be presented to Smoke Inspector Parker. An army of 350 women participated. It has been suggested that this method might be tried advantageously and effectively with the many eyesores to be found in nearly every town.

A single river pier will serve as the bridge support.

Out of Door Advertising.

"What Can Be Done to Eliminate Objectionable Out of Door Advertising?" was the principal topic discussed by the Associated Billposters and Distributors, who held their annual meeting in Chicago a short time ago. The chairman of the censors' committee said in his report: "Our aim is to eliminate everything objectionable from out of door advertising. We are in harmony with all the organizations which are working for this end. We have co-operated with the Woman's Christian Temperance union, the art leagues and the civic leagues of the different cities in which we work."

Would Combine to Boost.

O. W. Randall of Eagle, Colo., is trying to enlist the aid of Denver boosters in the formation of a commercial organization on the western slope. Randall's idea is to have the towns of Eagle, Minturn, Red Cliff and Gypsum unite in forming one commercial organization which shall have for its objects the advertising of these towns and more especially the creation of interest in good roads in that part of the state. It is probable that several members of the Denver chamber of commerce will visit Eagle within the next month to aid in the inauguration of an organization of this kind.

Road to Business Success.

Are you discounting your bills this year or paying interest? The retailer who discounts all bills is doing business on the right basis. The man who pays interest is losing money both ways and cannot hope to compete with aggressive merchants. He loses the interest and the discounts, and together they amount to more than a fair trading profit.

A Society For Tree Planting.

The organization of the American Association For the Planting and Preservation of City Trees has been announced. Its purpose is stated to be the establishment of "a movement for the planting and care of trees and shrubbery in city streets and in the yards and about the homes of the citizens by arousing local interest and pride and inducing local action." The headquarters are in Brooklyn, and apparently the association's present operations are to be confined to Greater New York. The list of officers suggests, however, a later branching out, for the vice presidents include Professor Graves, chief forester of the United States forest service; Dr. Merrill, assistant director of the New York Botanical garden, and Miss Rogers, director of the Nature club.

Town Improvement in Panama.

A dispatch from Panama seems to mean that we are to have at least two cases of comprehensive town planning on this side of the Atlantic. It reads: "The president of Panama, as an incident to a contract just made with the United States regarding payment for municipal improvements in Colon and Panama, has issued a decree making it unlawful to erect any building or structure in either city before the municipal authorities have completely laid out and mapped the section and paved the streets."

CONCRETE HOUSE IS ATTRACTIVE

Substantial and Durable and Easily Built.

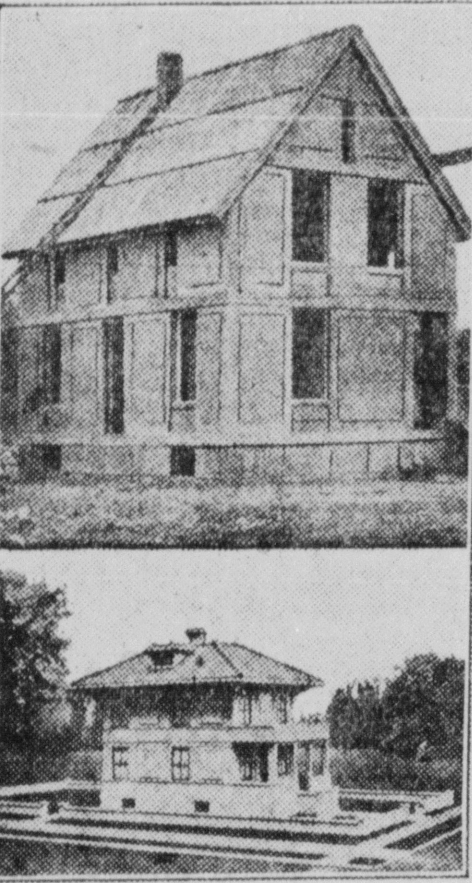

WILL "DRESS UP" YOUR TOWN

Modern Science Has Given Us a New Type of Home to Take Place of Modest Workingman's Abode and Preserve Our Depleting Timber Supply.

By JAMES A. EDGERTON.

Are we approaching the age of cement? Is concrete the answer to the decreasing timber supply? Are we to have ready made houses just as some of us now buy ready made clothes? By standardization the cement houses of the Edison and other patterns are assuming much the same relation to architecture and building as hand-me-down suits bear to tailoring. The standardizing process is that of making many houses from the same molds, thus materially reducing the cost.

The Edison method of building concrete houses is the one above described. To save time and to prevent too much sameness in type he recommends the use of half a dozen different molds by each construction company. To build an Edison house the mold is put in place, and the concrete, consisting of a mixture of sand, gravel and portland cement, is poured in. After the concrete hardens the mold is removed, and there is your house. During the hardening process a second mold can be set up and another house built while you wait. He estimates that one outfit consisting of thirty-seven men can thus erect 104 houses each year at an average cost of $1,200 per house of six rooms, with a slightly higher expense per additional room for those of larger size. For variations in pattern he does not depend alone on the different molds, but has changes of porches and other slight details in the same mold; also difference of color. Thus a house of a given pattern looks very different in green from one in purple, red or yellow. The paint is a mixture of cement and practically lasts forever, like the smile that won't come off.

Even the roofs are made of cement. Not only are these domiciles fireproof, flood proof and wind proof, but rat proof and mouse proof. The concrete is harder than granite, and a rat has about as much chance of getting through that a man would have of drilling a hole through a twelve inch steel plate with a wooden toothpick. The only thing that can injure a concrete house is an adult earthquake, and even it would have to be some shakes to make much of an impression. There are cement houses in Italy that have stood for a thousand years. The Mexican adobe are so ancient that nobody knows when their ugliness first took form.

The Edison type is not the only one. Another is the house built of immense concrete blocks or sections. These sections are so large that they have to be handled with a derrick, and it is proposed to make them larger still, including the whole side of a house in one block. The plan for these dwellings has been perfected by those connected with the Sage foundation, which is not the foundation of a house, by the way, but of a charity. These estimable people had designs to help the laboring man by giving him a cheap house to live in, but the labor union objected unless the concrete sections could be put in place by masons with mortar and trowel. This especial uplift had an especially rocky road.

As for beauty, we should not be discouraged by the Mexican dobes. The homeliness of these domiciles was due not to the material, but to the builders. The particular tribe of Indians that made the dobes would have put up ugly houses even if they had possessed unlimited quantities of mahogany and Circassian walnut. Those Indians did not run to the aesthetic.

Nowadays concrete houses can be made as attractive as one's taste, brains and pocketbook will permit. The societies for beautifying cities and villages should look into this. Concrete houses in various tints and patterns could be made infinitely more picturesque than the wooden shacks that disgrace most of the towns. Also, they would retain their beauty.

IS READY TO MARCH UPON WASHINGTON

Doughty Canadian Doesn't Like Annexation Talk.

Ottawa, Feb. 16.—Dispatches from Washington to the effect that Champ Clark had said in his speech on reciprocity that the United States was planning to annex Canada were printed in the newspapers here. When the house of commons met yesterday afternoon, Colonel Sam. Hughes, a former army officer, and the military member of the opposition, called the attention of the prime minister to these startling annexation dispatches and asked if the government had anything to say on the subject. Sir Wilfrid Laurier replied: "I have not had my attention drawn to it until this moment. I have only to say that the policy of the government is already settled, but if some nefarious intention of the kind mentioned in these dispatches should be put in action and the worst comes to the worst, I shall call upon my honorable friend and gallant soldier to dispose of it and guard our interests."

"Does the prime minister place the matter in my hands?" asked Colonel Hughes. "If so, I will proceed to Washington at once."

Administration Repudiates It.

Washington, Feb. 16.—A few remarks by Champ Clark, in the course of debate on the reciprocity bill in the house, alarmed the president and his advisers and led to a public statement from the White House disclaiming any intention or ambition on the part of this government to annex Canada. Here is one of the statements by Speaker-elect Clark which caused a stir in England and created a sensation in Canada: "I am for [the reciprocity agreement] because I hope to see the day when the American flag will float over every square foot of the British North American possessions clear to the north pole."

Only a Filibuster Can Now Defeat Reciprocity Measure.

Washington, Feb. 16.—A meeting of the senate finance committee will be called today, and it is practically certain that the McCall reciprocity bill passed by the house will be laid before the senate by that committee. With the bill once before the senate, the only way of defeating it will be by a filibuster, and it is uncertain at this time whether the opponents of the bill will carry their opposition to that extent. The supporters of the bill in the senate contend that they have the votes to pass it by a big margin, possibly by as much as 60 to 30, if it is not obstructed.

Noblesville, Ind., Feb. 16.—Charles Avery, aged twenty-two, shot his brother Calvin, aged thirty-seven, at the home of the latter.

Calvin was shot through the right breast and a lung penetrated. He can live only a few hours. He is married and is the father of six children. Charles Avery is unmarried. He escaped.

Chic Little Dresses for the Kiddies.

Furnished by Pictorial Review

The Pictorial Review Bldg.

222-224-226 West 39th St., New York City

Simplicity is the keynote of children's frocks now-a-days and this is as it should be. There will be plenty of time in years to come for them to worry over elaborate frills and the latest fads.

For wear at school and play, there is nothing more suitable than rather dark wash dresses. Gingham, chambray, repp and materials on this order are used the year round for little tots. Very little trimming is necessary, or, indeed, desirable—just a little piping or a facing of contrasting material. Bloomers, made of the same fabric, are much better for the youngsters than petticoats. They give the little girl as much freedom when playing and jumping about as her brother has.

When it comes to little party frocks, and the kiddies must have parties, a little more fussiness in dress is quite permissible. Sheer bastiste, lawn, organdy and fine dimity are among the best materials for these frocks and for trimming, nothing is more effective than lace insertion and edging. Hand embroidery, of course, is always pretty, too, though this takes more time than putting in the lace.

In PICTORIAL REVIEW PATTERN No. 3777, we have an exceptionally chic little one-piece dress for school wear. The box plaits make a change from the usual side plaits or wide tucks and are extremely smart. An effective finish may be given the model by making the little yoke facing, cuffs and belt of contrasting material. If the dress were made of a check or plaid, gingham, plain gingham of harmonizing color would be pretty for these trimming pieces. The closing of this frock is made at the back under the center box-plait. PICTORIAL REVIEW PATTERN No. 3777 may be had in sizes 2, 4, 6 and 8 years. Price ten cents. Size 4 requires 2 yards of 44-inch material.

PICTORIAL REVIEW PATTERN No. 3787 is a still simpler dress, though equally desirable for school wear. The little body portion is cut quite long, giving it a Frenchy air. A feature of this dress which will appeal to busy mothers is the straight skirt. This saves making the seams, necessary in a godet skirt. The yoke may be finished without the tab if desired, though this gives the Russian closing effect which is so becoming to youngsters. As for materials, linen, lawn, gingham, chambray, cashmere and fabrics on this order are desirable. This model may be had in sizes 2, 4, 6 and 8 years, size 4 requiring 1½ yards of 44-inch material. Price 10 cents.

Now for the little party frock and after all it's much more fun to make these than the plainer dresses. Every mother likes to fuss with dainty materials and laces and in making PICTORIAL REVIEW PATTERN No. 3773, she will have the opportunity. The panel front may be outlined with lace insertion and either trimmed with another row down the centre or daintily embroidered. The straight gathered skirt is attached to the upper portion by means of a strip of insertion, and little rosettes of pale blue ribbon sewed at either side of the panel as shown here would be pretty. Sheer bastiste, in white or in one of the delicate colors, linen, lawn, dimity and organdy are a few of the materials which would make up daintily in this model. This pattern may be had in sizes 2, 4, 6 and 8 years. Price 15 cents. Size 4 requires 1½ yard of material 44 inches wide.

These patterns include the cutting and construction guides.

THE NEW CONSTITUTION.

The amendments to the state constitution which are proposed by Governor Marshall should be acted upon only after they have been given a careful and thorough study. A constitution embodies the fundamental principles of an organized government and is subject to change or revision only at the will of the majority of the people. About it are woven the statutory laws and should contain the elements of justice and equality to all.

Without discussing the merits of the proposed amendments, it seems that the Governor, for some reason, has used utmost secrecy in advancing his plan to make the changes. The announcement of the proposed changes was not made public until the caucus meeting in the state house. The present session of the legislature is more than half completed, yet the chief executive desires that his new amendment be adopted before adjournment. It is an old trick in politics to have "pet measures" introduced during the final days of the session, that they may be rushed through without the closest inspection. The Governor may not have had this idea in mind when he presented his constitutional changes, but the public would have a more favorable impression if they had been suggested, at least, several weeks earlier. The Governor evidently could have done this for the amendments are, doubtless, the result of weeks or even months of thought or consideration.

The legislature will not now, with the great volume of other business before it, be able to give the changes, more than a casual inspection. Upon many of the proposed amendments, there would doubtless be much discussion, if sufficient time was allowed. If the constitution is adopted, as it probably will be the public will have time, however, to examine the provisions, as they will not be voted upon until the general election in 1912.

Back of the motive to provide a good constitution, it is believed that is some other motive. It is known that the democrats are fearful that the Proctor liquor law will be held unconstitutional by the Supreme Court and it has been suggested among other reasons that the proposed changes are offered in order to prevent an amendment for state wide prohibition. Many believe that since the county option was stricken from the statute books a state wide prohibition amendment would carry in a constitutional convention. If the Governor's plan is adopted there will be no need of a convention and the question goes directly to the people from the legislature. The liquor element, doubtless, feels that the sentiment is drifting toward prohibition and desires to adopt a new constitution at this time in order to guard against such an amendment.

According to the present plan of the city council the question of improving the streets will be taken up shortly. In making this improvement the council should select the materials which have wearing qualities, and at the same time will not be a burden upon the property holders. Improved streets add greatly to the appearance of any city, and have been needed here for several years. With the constant travel over the principal streets they soon become in a bad condition, and after heavy rains it is often days before they are free from mud.

There are probably a number of mayors in Indiana who are thankful that the recall bill was not enacted.

FOR HISTORICAL STUDY

Letter in Indianapolis Star Regarding Local Indiana Club.

The following letter appeared in the Indianapolis Star this morning:

Speaking of historical societies your editorial on that subject in Friday's paper was both timely and good. Permit a humble reader to add a few lines in behalf of these organizations. While it is commendable in our oldest inhabitants to form such an organization, as our Kansas City neighbors have done, is it not true that those who have passed the meridian of life—in fact, have entered the penumbra of their final eclipse—take up the work rather from the enjoyment of living for a brief time in the retrospective, than of actually pursuing the arduous task of digging up old and dusty legends? Enthusiasm soon wanes and the enterprise fails through lack of interest; or it may be, for lack of a less irksome method of work.

In several cities in the state women have organized Indiana study clubs, the purposes of which are manifold. Aside from the social features of these organizations, local and state history are subjects of study and discussion. Other subjects are "Important Current Events," "Our Own People Who Have Achieved Honor and Fame," "The Poets and Their Songs," "The Artists and Their Pictures," "Heroes of War and Peace," "Historic Places," "Native Birds and Flowers," "Schools and the Educational System," "Home Sanitation," (Doc Hurty take notice), "Gardens and Orchards," "Home Work" and others too numerous to mention. It does seem that a club of this nature could be made a useful institution for historical purposes. Seymour has such a club, and its first year's work, now shortly closing, has been so helpful to its members aside from the pleasure derived, that wider fields of labor are already being planned. Many of the oldest inhabitants will be visited during the coming summer months, and their stories taken down verbatim. Old daguerreotypes will be brought out and wept over again and the stories of the pioneer will find lodgment in the records of the society. These clubs should be given hearty encouragement. What I wished to say is this: Is not the Indiana Study Club idea as good a historical formula as we need in this bustling, strenuous period of life?

HOW GOSHEN, MASS., GOT ITS NEW TOWN HOUSE.

Interest on a Hundred Dollars Invested Many Years Ago.

There has been erected a new town house at Goshen, Mass., which cost $15,000. The idea of building it and a part of the funds for its erection came from the bequest of John James, who, a great many years ago, gave $100, with the condition that it be kept on

TOWN HOUSE, GOSHEN, MASS.

Interest for 100 years and the proceeds then devoted to the needs of the town and the church. In his day the town and the church were one, but of course conditions are different now. However, the townspeople straightened this out amicably, and one of the things decided upon was that $3,000 of the fund should constitute a nucleus for building a new town house.

Through public spirited individuals the fund was advanced to $15,000, and the fine building shown here is the result. It is an excellent testimonial of the loyalty of a former citizen. The ground dimensions of the building are sixty by forty feet. The first floor is given over to a large hall, with a good sized stage. The upper floor has a social room twenty-four feet. The first floor is given over to a kitchen. The building committee is composed of E. C. Packard, W. A. Smith, W. E. Benjamin, G. L. Barrus and F. C. Stone.

The Sea a Deceiver.

Like the land, the sea has its flowers, but the most brilliant of the marine flowers bloom not upon plants, but upon animals. The living corals of tropical seas present a display of floral beauty that in richness and vividness of color and variety and grace of form rivals the splendor of a garden of flowers. The resemblance to vegetal blossoms is so complete that some persons find it difficult to believe that the brilliant display contains no element of plant life, but is wholly animal in its organization. — Pittsburg Dispatch.

Owes Health and Happiness

to Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound

Scottville, Mich.—"I want to tell you how much good Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound has done me. I live on a farm and have worked very hard. I am forty-five years old, and am the mother of thirteen children. Many people think it strange that I am not broken down with hard work and the care of my family, but I tell them of my good friend, your Vegetable Compound, and that there will be no backache and dragging pains for them if they will take it as I have. I am scarcely ever without it in the house."

"I will say also that I think there is no better medicine to be found for young girls to build them up, regulate, and make them well. My eldest daughter has taken the Compound for painful, irregular periods, and it has always helped her."

"I am always ready and willing to speak a good word for the Lydia E. Pinkham's Remedies. I tell every one I meet that I owe my health and happiness to these wonderful medicines."—Mrs. J. G. Johnson, Scottville, Mich., R. F. D. 3.

When shown such positive and reliable proof that Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound really does cure such cases wouldn't any sensible woman conclude that the same remedy would also benefit her if suffering the same?

MORE GENUINE AND CONVINCING PROOF:

Elwood, Ind.—"I was sick three months and could not walk. I suffered all the time. I tried doctors, and they said I could not get well without an operation. I could hardly stand the pain, but my right side was the worse. I couldn't sleep at night, and I was troubled with a weakness."

"Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound cured me. I began to feel better when I had taken only one bottle, but I kept on until I was cured."—Mrs. Sadie Mullen, 2728 N. B. Street, Elwood, Ind.

What more proof can any one ask?

For 30 years Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound has been the standard remedy for female ills. No sick woman does justice to herself who will not try this famous medicine. Made exclusively from roots and herbs, and has thousands of cures to its credit.

Mrs. Pinkham invites all sick women to write her for advice. She has guided thousands to health free of charge. Address Mrs. Pinkham, Lynn, Mass.

NO DELAY IS TO BE PERMITTED

New Constitution Bill Is to Be Rushed Through.

LITTLE DEBATE IS EXPECTED

As a Caucus Measure the Governor's Bill Apparently Has the Right of Way and Will Be Put Through as Rapidly as Possible Under the Rules—Women Suffragists and Prohibitionists Watching Proceedings.

Indianapolis, Feb. 16.—To have charge of the introduction of the bill for the new state constitution and to superintend its passage through the senate, Senator Stotsenburg was selected. Since it has been made a caucus measure it is not expected to occupy much time on that side of the house. Representative Seidensticker will have charge of the bill in the house as far as the floor work is concerned. As in the senate, little debate is expected. The measure will be rushed through as rapidly as the rules will permit. It is not expected that any change will be made in the measure after it is introduced.

The question was advanced by representatives of the anti-liquor forces interested in an amendment of the constitution to provide for state-wide prohibition as to whether the measure would be voted on by section or as a whole when put up to the people. Those in charge of the measure said the bill would be put up to be voted on as a whole as the only method consistent with the adoption of an entire new constitution. A representative of the Anti-Saloon League said that unless an amendment to the bill was introduced to provide for state-wide prohibition, the league forces would unite solidly to prevent its adoption.

The absence of any provision concerning woman suffrage has attracted considerable attention among the women of the state who have been urging equal suffrage, and these forces are expected to join with the Anti-Saloon League forces in an effort to defeat adoption of the measure.

In less than ten minutes after Senator Proctor had demanded a suspension of the rules yesterday afternoon in order to take up the new local option bill, prepared as a substitute for the recently enacted law on that subject, the measure had passed the senate by a vote of 28 to 17. This bill is designed to correct the new law, a general suspicion being entertained that the latter will not stand a test of the courts.

The senate also passed the Clark registration bill.

Some Omnibus Legislation.

Ten railway bills were hitched in one train of legislation in the senate and sped through the upper house. It is believed they can get through the house and then will see a clear track ahead before the end of the session. This procedure also marked the beginning of classified legislation as a means of expediting affairs in the senate and producing the speed which must be maintained by the legislature from now on. Three of the bills expand the power of the Indiana railroad commission.

The measure to create a state board for the examination of barbers, for the inspection of shops and requiring shops and barbers' tools to be sanitary was laughed out of the senate when it came up on third reading. The house committee on insurance killed the bill compelling fraternal insurance societies to submit to a state examination of their affairs and also compelling them to have an adequate reserve fund.

An amendment to provide for a "beer license" at $100 or $200 a year, for saloons that do not cater to the whisky trade, is to be proposed as an additional provision in the Proctor liquor regulation bill now in the house. The demand for such a supplementary license is said to come from German citizens who conduct small saloons.

A bill is to be introduced in the house to adjust the discrepancies in the various public school funds of the state and to set the funds on a solid working basis. A recent examination by the state board of accounts disclosed that eighty-nine counties of the state had discrepancies, amounting in all to nearly $20,000.

Legislative Reapportionment.

The legislative apportionment bill has been introduced in the senate. Much talk concerning the plan to reapportion the congressional districts of the state was indulged in at a joint session of the congressional apportionment committee of the senate and house. However, the committees arrived at no definite conclusions, and must hold another meeting to finish the business. On account of the fear that congress may yet decide to allow Indiana only twelve representatives instead of thirteen, two congressional maps will be prepared to take care of either emergency. The national house of representatives has passed the bill which would fix the number of Indiana representatives at thirteen.

An effort in the house to postpone indefinitely the Ratiff bill to prohibit children under sixteen years old, unattended, from visiting theaters and moving picture shows, failed, and the bill was advanced.

TWO FACTIONS IN GRAND JURY

Situation Over At Danville Becomes Complicated.

MAY RECONSIDER INDICTMENTS

Minority Faction in Grand Jury Investigating Vote Selling Scandals Has Not Yet Consented to the Voting of the Bills—Break Between the State's Attorney and the Grand Jury Now Regarded as Permanent.

Danville, Ill., Feb. 16.—Against alleged vote sellers nearly 200 indictments have been ordered drawn by the Vermillion county grand jury. Twenty or more of these will be drawn by outside attorneys under orders from the grand jury and without the knowledge of the state's attorney. Material for the voting of 200 additional vote-selling indictments, making the grand total approximately 400, is now in the hands of the inquisitors. Twenty vote-selling indictments were agreed upon yesterday.

The break between the grand jury and State's Attorney Lewman in all probability will be permanent. A grand juror who gave out this information declared that a minority faction in the jury had not yet consented to the voting of the bills and that there was a possibility of their being reconsidered before the time to take a final vote upon them arrived.

NERVY BURGLARS

They Break Open a Jail and Rob Solitary Prisoner of His Money.

Wilkesbarre, Pa., Feb. 16.—Two masked robbers made an entirely new record by breaking into the town jail at Warrior Run, Pa., near here, and, bursting open the door of the cell in which Stanley Jandus, the only prisoner, was confined, robbed him at the point of a revolver of $29. The burglars then escaped, and Jandus, who was being held on a trivial charge, finding himself free, went out and notified the police, who searched for the burglars, but found no trace of them except their footprints in the snow, which led to the main road and were there lost.

Walsh Pardon Petition Now in the Attorney General's Hands.

Washington, Feb. 16.—After several weeks' consideration by minor officials of the department of justice, the petition for the pardon of John R. Walsh, the Chicago banker, is now before Attorney General Wickersham. The attorney general will consider the petition as quickly as he believes is consistent with a thorough understanding of the case, and will then make his report to President Taft. Mr. Wickersham has found the Walsh case more complicated than he had supposed, and is going into it carefully. It is not likely to reach the president for several days.

Rockford, Ill., Feb. 16.—Mrs. Rena Vitoli was fatally injured and her husband and baby slightly hurt by a black hand bomb which was exploded under the window of their bedroom.

Paris, Feb. 16.—MM. Rip and Fiers, two of the most prominent music hall review writers in Paris, fought a duel with swords, and, contrary to the usual duelling custom here, blood was shed, but only to the extent of a few drops, sufficient, however, to appease honor.

International Wrangle Over New Railway

THE project of the Bagdad railway has become an international wrangle in Europe, and it is asserted that considerable diplomatic soothing will be necessary before construction is started.

This railway was one of the important subjects discussed by the czar and the kaiser on the occasion of the former's visit to Potsdam, and the result, according to the German press, is that Russia has been persuaded to desert

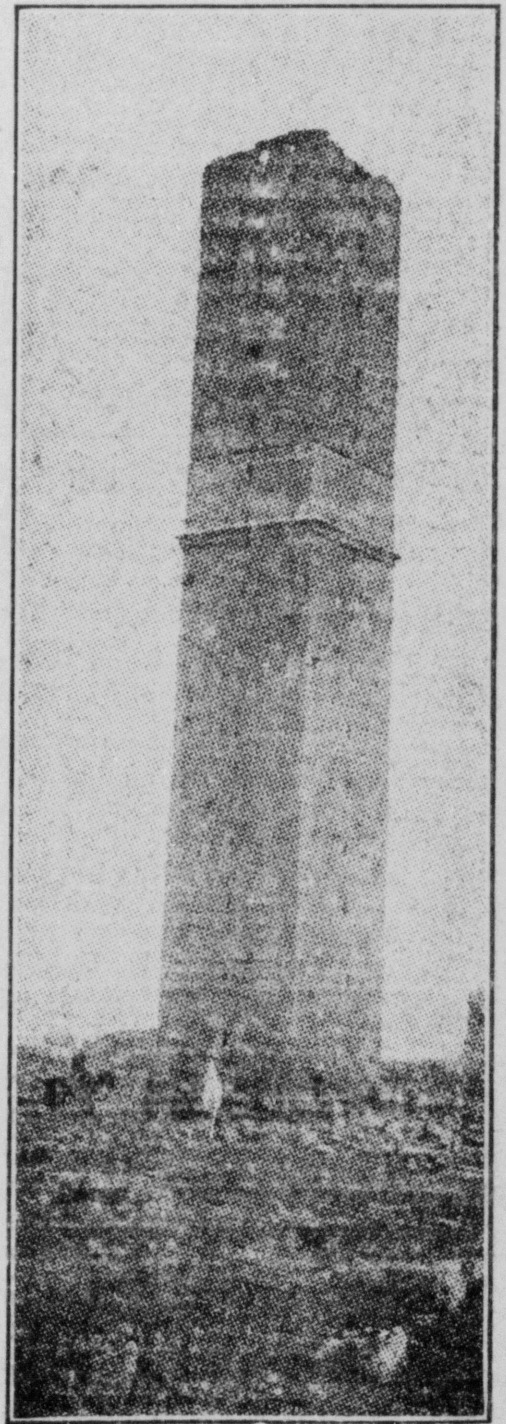

ROUTE OF BAGDAD RAILWAY.

Great Britain and France and form an alliance with Germany. The latter has obtained Turkish sanction to complete the railway to Bagdad, and it will be Russia's duty to construct a line to the frontier of northern Persia.

By the original scheme the German and French capitalists were to participate financially in the respective proportions of 60 and 40 per cent.

Although the Turkish government has given its consent to the completion of the road to Constantinople by Germany, there is considerable feeling in the Turkish empire against Russia's maneuvers, which practically forced the sultan into line.

The Bagdad railway is the revival of the old idea of connecting the Mediterranean with the Persian gulf. One portion, the Ereğli-Burgulu section, has been constructed with little difficulty. The next one, through the Taurus mountains, will involve great expense, it is believed. The route lies through the pass known as the Cilician gates and the Amanus gate. After piercing the Taurus the route lies for hundreds of miles along the Mesopotamian plain via Mosul and Bagdad to Koweit, on the Persian gulf.

But the English are likely to discount the importance of the Bagdad railway as a means of communication between India and Europe, as they are projecting a direct transpersian route. Moreover, the British government is likely to be consulted before the Bagdad road is definitely settled upon.

Many scenes of historic interest will be placed within travelers' reach by the Bagdad railway, such as Rebeekah's well, Nesebur and its ruins and Haran, with its ancient tower, the latter being a remnant of the temple erected by Nabunaid, the last Babylonian king. It is located near the scene of the defeat of Crassus and his Romans by the Parthians.

CROWDED GOULD OUT OF HIS ROAD

Fight for Control of Missouri Pacific Quickly Ended.

A TERRIFIC FIGHT AVERTED

George Gould's Surrender of the Road That Was the Crown Jewel of the Railroad Diadem Left by Jay Gould. Was Forced by a Combination of Financial Interests to Resist Whom Would Have Shaken Money World.

New York, Feb. 16.—Before the sound of the gong, the fight for control of the Missouri Pacific railroad system ended. On Tuesday George J. Gould's brokers, smelling something doing, began inquiring for prices. On the same day Kuhn, Loeb & Co., and many people associated with them, including John D. Rockefeller, showed their hand by demanding through attorneys a list of stockholders, addresses and other data pertinent to fight preliminaries. Yesterday Mr. Gould had Otto H. Kahn, the Kuhn, Loeb partner, who was Harriman's most trusted adviser and most intimate friend, meet him at the offices of Mr. Gould's lawyers on Pine street. It was not long before papers were signed, sealed and delivered and the management of the system transferred.

Story Concisely Told.

A little while later Mr. Gould called upon Mr. Kahn at the offices of Kuhn, Loeb & Co. What took place at this meeting is not known except for this little fragment:

"Good-by, Mr. Kahn," said Mr. Gould as he left. "Good-by, Mr. Gould," said Mr. Kahn.

Though fragmentary, the conversation told concisely enough the story of the transfer of control of a railroad company with authority over 10,696 miles of road, one of the three greatest railroad systems in the world from the standpoint of mileage. Moreover, there was in it the tone of mutual respect. For Missouri Pacific was the crown jewel of the railroad diadem left by Jay Gould and had always been cherished by the family as the choicest of its railroad possessions, and both men understood that Mr. Gould would have been willing enough to relinquish active control of it years ago but for purely sentimental reasons.

Mr. Gould's surrender of control was due to no lack of chivalry or courage. He found out that there were arrayed against him not only Kuhn, Loeb & Co., the syndicate which took over the Pearson-Farquhar holdings, and John D. Rockefeller, but also the Deutsche Bank of Berlin, international banking houses representing practically all of the foreign stockholders, and most of the Wall street houses of any consequence. Moreover, he could not certainly rely upon Mrs. Russell Sage, who is represented on the Missouri Pacific board of directors by her brother, J. S. Slocum. It would not have been a fair fight if it had gone on, and in calling it off, everyone in Wall street gave Mr. Gould credit for that discretion which is the better part of courage.

Mr. Gould's Statement.

For whatever reason the big fight was called off, the relatively little contest simmered down into a statement given out by Mr. Gould saying he would retire from the presidency and become chairman of the board of directors, and naming the board which will be chosen at the Missouri Pacific's annual election on March 14 next.

According to this statement, the retiring directors will be C. S. Clarke, one of the vice presidents of the Missouri Pacific; R. M. Galloway, a pronounced Gould adherent; H. B. Hendon, another; Frank J. Gould and Howard Gould, brothers of George J. Gould. Gould representation will still be maintained on the board, but, though substantial, it will be a minority representation, and Gould stock and bond holdings will still be heavy, but they will be minority holdings. Control is to be vested in the association of men who have brought about the change, and they will select the new president. These men let it be known that they hoped Howard Elliott would accept the presidency. He is president of the Northern Pacific and has a very fine job now. It was explained that as president of the Northern Pacific a man must be more or less subordinate to Hill, even though he be as well qualified as Elliott to paddle his own canoe, and the new management of Missouri Pacific offers a man free hand to build up a very large railroad system, one even greater in its potentialities than is Northern Pacific.

It was authoritatively said that no other Gould road is concerned in the transaction. The troubles of the Wabash, Wheeling & Lake Erie, and Wabash-Pittsburg terminal have no relation to the Missouri Pacific.

Caught by Fast Freight.

Mitchell, Ind., Feb. 16.—George Hopengartner and Ed Todd were riding on a three-wheeled handcar from River Vale to Mitchell, when they were struck by a through freight going at the rate of forty miles an hour on a down grade. The boys were thrown high in the air and the car was lifted entirely over the engine. The boys were brought to Mitchell and are in a serious condition.

HENEY CAME NEAR GETTING SPANKING

His Gun Play Aroused His Six-Foot Opponent.

San Francisco, Feb. 16.—Francis J. Heney, the graft prosecutor, narrowly escaped a beating at the hands of District Attorney Charles M. Fickert at the Olympic club, of which both are members. Fickert after lunch went for his hat, when he came face to face with Heney, who has indulged in much caustic criticism of Fickert, who defeated him for district attorney.

When he saw Fickert, Heney became very abusive. Fickert told him to keep still. Heney reached for his pistol pocket, when Fickert grabbed him. Fickert is over six feet and was football captain at Stanford, so Heney was a child in his hands. He would have spanked Heney had friends not interfered.

It Wasn't Apoplexy.

Newport, R. I., Feb. 16.—The death of Commander Frank Marble, U. S. N., of the naval war college staff, on Tuesday, was a case of suicide. Death was not caused by apoplexy, as was at first reported. Commander Marble shot himself through the head with a revolver, but what prompted his act is a mystery. He had been laboring hard at the college and the belief is that his mind may have given way and in a moment of depression he shot himself.

A $50,000 Blaze.

Boonville, Ind., Feb. 16.—Fire caused a loss of $50,000 to the Picker Bros. dry goods store. A stock of merchandise valued at $30,000 was destroyed, and the building was damaged to the extent of $20,000.

HER BUSINESS IS CLEANING TOWNS

Kalamazoo Woman Is First Public Housekeeper.

ACCOMPLISHES BIG RESULTS.

The Rev. Caroline Bartlett Crane Made Kalamazoo, Mich., a Spotless Town and Started Improvements in Many Other Places on Contract.

The Rev. Caroline Bartlett Crane of Kalamazoo, Mich., has the distinction of being the first public housekeeper in the world, says Hampton's Magazine. It is her theory, put effectively into practice, that a large part of city government is merely housekeeping on a big scale, very badly done, because men do not know how to keep house.

"We have waited a long time," says Mrs. Crane, "hoping that the men would learn, but now we are tired of waiting. Women are tired of being told to open their mouths and shut their eyes and everything will be done for them. If the home is women's sphere surely the filthy streets through which they must walk in order to reach their homes are a part of that sphere also."

She told the recent conservation congress in St. Paul of the simple, plain, but time tested housekeeping methods that under her direction have been applied in a number of cities and of the excellent results which had followed. So practical were all these sanitary suggestions that immediately after her speech the state board of health of Minnesota voted an appropriation to engage five weeks of her time. The board asked her to visit the twelve largest towns of the state, view them with the eye of a housekeeper and report. Now those cities are getting the house cleaning of their lives.

Some time ago the ideal of public service grew so strong in her heart that Mrs. Crane resigned her pastorate and devoted her entire time to civic work. She organized the Women's Civic Improvement league and started out to clean up Kalamazoo, which sadly needed cleaning at that time. Mrs. Crane offered to take charge of the street cleaning department. After much persuasion the city council gave her charge of six blocks on Main street for three months. Mrs. Crane instituted the plan of "white wings" hand workers and soon had her section of the town entirely clean. Moreover, she was saving money on the job. For a certain allotted space of street Kalamazoo had been expending $8.39. Mrs. Crane cleaned the same space for $5 and handed the extra $3.39 back to the department. Before her three months had elapsed the city had adopted her plan.

This was only the beginning. Mrs. Crane and her Civic Improvement league next went after Kalamazoo's food supply. They visited the slaughter houses, the dairies, the markets, and the reports they turned in to the clubs, the churches and the newspapers were so startling that the town almost lost its appetite. The result of the league's exposures was a law providing for municipal inspection of meat, milk and all market products. All the public institutions in the vicinity of Kalamazoo were next brought under the inspection of the league. The almshouse was found to be in a shocking condition of neglect. The women cleaned it up. Other institutions were examined and found lacking. The women supplied their wants, or, rather, they made the proper authorities supply them.

Having made Kalamazoo into the "spotless town" of the northwest, Mrs. Crane continued, by means of writing and lecturing, to preach the gospel of civic cleanliness and order. Soon distant cities began to send for this public housekeeper to tell them their own shortcomings.

The most valuable part of Mrs. Crane's work is that it has proved in almost every case permanent. Her visit and inspection are followed by organization of effort to bring about the changes suggested by her. After her visit to Kentucky the legislature passed state health laws that were a generation in advance of those Mrs. Crane criticized. A few months after her inspection of Nashville they had cleaned the public market and laid new sidewalks throughout the town. Calumet, Ill., was changed in a year from a mining camp into a modern town with parks, good streets and an organized system of public relief.

Unsightly Hitching Post.

Ablene, Kan., has a mayor who is trying to do a few stunts for his city that will take it out of the rut of old fog towns and make it a pleasant place to live in. One thing he has done is eliminating the unsightly old hitching posts from the main streets. Of course the farmers need places where horses can be tied, but these can be provided in alleyways and side streets. The old hitching post has always been a nuisance, the cause of filth and mud holes and battered pavements.

There is no question but that dealing at home makes a good town, but those who preach this the loudest are very often the persons who do not practice what they preach.

NOT WANTED AT HOME WILL GO TO CANADA

German Girls Write in Quest of Husbands.

Berlin, Feb. 16.—According to a letter from a Prussian suffragette to the Tageblatt, German girls are preparing to compete with the English girls for Canadian husbands. Referring to the recent announcement that 5,000 English girls were wanted to become the wives of young Canadian farmers, the writer says among other things that "since the German government does not pay the least attention to the colossal surplus of girls in Germany, and as the high price of meat makes it increasingly difficult for respectable girls to get married, the girls of our circle have decided to become British subjects, emigrate to Canada and gratify the aspirations of Canadian bachelors. The Prussian government will then realize that the women to whom the right to vote is refused have been driven into the arms of England."

"Isle of Spice."

"Isle of Spice" which comes to the opera house Friday night is not a compromise comedy with music. It is not a string of tunes and acrobatic dances with vapid dialogue. In these two characteristics it is entirely out book and the book bears some resemblance of style. The music matches the balance to the score, contrary to all present day rules of musical comedy carpenters. Among the song hits that seem destined to outlive the ages are "The Goo Goo Man," "Peggy Bray," "Under the Yum Tree," "You And I," and "How Can You Tell Till You Try." An entirely new scenic investiture has been provided and the costumes are clean and without suggestion.

LEAVING HOME TO SAVE (?) MONEY

It Doesn't Figure Out That Way

IALOGUE WITH A MORAL.

Why Not Buy at Home and Help the Local Dealer Instead of Wasting
Cash in Traveling to the City?
Time and Comfort Saved.

Afternoon in home across the Hudson from New York city. Mrs. Ross and daughter Jennie, visiting Mrs. Jones, Mrs. Ross' married daughter.

Mrs. Ross—I see you have on a pair of new shoes.

Mrs. Jones—Yes. I bought them yesterday at J's (mentions a local store), and they are a perfect fit.

Jennie—Why, they are just like mine. How much did you pay for them?

Mrs. Jones—Three dollars.

Mrs. Ross and Jennie (together)—My! Oh, gracious!

Mrs. Ross—You never can get a bargain in Jersey.

Jennie—That's so. Ma and I went over to New York to a sale and bought my shoes, the same identical thing, for only $2.98.

Mrs. Ross—And we had lunch for both for 50 cents.

Jennie—The crowd at the sale was awful, and I came near fainting from the heat. Everybody must watch for those sales.

Here Mr. Jones, who was listening behind his newspaper, could hold himself no longer. He burst out with a "Ha, ha, ha!"

Mrs. Ross—What's the matter, Mr. Jones?

Mr. Jones—I was—ha, ha—just thinking how saving you women folks are sometimes.

Mrs. Ross—I don't see any joke about it. You should tell May (meaning Mrs. Jones) to look around and not spend all her money at home, as you are always preaching. See the same shoes on May and Jennie, and Jennie's cost only $2.98.

Mr. Jones—Ha, ha! You went to New York with Jennie for a pair of shoes; 26 cents to get there, $2.98 for a $3 shoe. Ha, ha! Saved 2 cents, still out 24 cents, lunch 50, nearly overheated in crowd and 26 cents to get home, all tired and fretful; make the same identical shoe as May has for $3 in Jersey cost you in New York $4 instead of $2.98, big saving. Ha, ha! And May didn't come home tired and fretful the day she paid $3 for her shoes—ha, ha!

Mrs. Ross (getting ready to go home)—Oh, you men do always figure closer than a woman.

Moral—Buy in the home market. Don't go out of town and pay 5 to 25 per cent more in expense when you think you are saving money.—Gap in Hudson Magazine.

HELP ALONG OUR OWN.

Why Send to Other Communities For Goods Produced Among Ourselves?

The steamer Chalmette, from Baltimore, carrying a solid cargo of canned goods, is discharging its freight at Galveston. The state of Texas is one of the largest markets Baltimore has for this kind of goods, as it is the piece de resistance on the ranches. The increase in shipment is due to the reduction in rates on canned goods from 20 to 31 cents.—Quannah Observer.

Commenting on the above, Farm and Ranch of Dallas, Tex., says:

There are no better canned goods than those of Texas, Arkansas and Louisiana. Yet it is found hard to sell products of our canneries, while trainloads and boatloads of goods are being shipped into the states which should support their own industries. In one case it was found that goods from a local cannery had been shipped away from home, then bought by a local merchant and shipped back to the place where canned.

The people who preach the doctrine of patronizing home industries should follow the advice they freely give to others. When they fail to do so then they preach for revenue only, and the revenue is for themselves only.

The people read their home newspapers, but they don't read telephone poles or cows or barbed wire fences. You never yet saw a man seated by his fireside reading a board fence or the side of a barn to his children. Here's a hint for the local merchant.

Light Attracts Customers.

In the downtown section of a city the theater audiences come and go through two avenues leading to car lines. A haberdasher has a shop in a side street between these two channels of travel at a much more reasonable rent than he would have to pay on the avenues. Study of the conditions convinced him that theatergoers took those avenues not because they were especially convenient nor as a matter of habit, but simply because they were light. When he put up an electric sign big enough to light his section of the dark side street he diverted enough travel past his windows every night to increase materially the daily sales.—Saturday Evening Post.

RED LIGHTS ON FIRE BOXES INSTALLED IN ROCHESTER

To Make Them Clearly Recognizable at Night.

In order to make the fire alarm boxes clearly recognizable at night in Rochester, N. Y., they have been equipped with an incandescent lamp enclosed in an outer red globe. No change was made in the fire alarm posts, a special fitting at the top being equipped with a shade holder and a forty watt, clear bulb tungsten lamp over which is a red globe with the words "Fire Alarm" etched in it.

LIGHT ON FIRE ALARM BOX.

The lighting circuit to the post is run underground either from the underground system or from a pole line, the leads in the latter case passing down the pole in conduit to the fire alarm post. Where the lighting circuits are on the opposite side of the street the circuit is placed underground in an iron pipe, a single conductor being used for one lead and the pipe itself for the other lead. In this way the extra cost of a double conductor is saved and the small transformers—for all the lamps receive energy from an overhead or underground sixteen volt, forty watt transformer connected to the constant current are lighting circuits—are effectively grounded.

The small transformers are in most cases set in the manholes adjacent to the fire alarm posts. The invention is the outcome of an incident that occurred some time ago, when a fire made considerable progress because a citizen could not find a box at night.

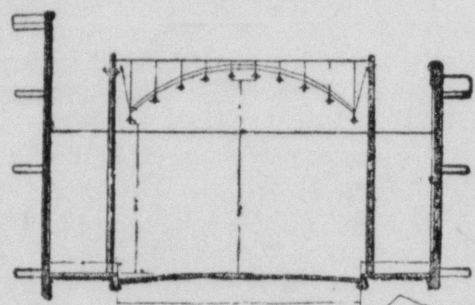

ARCHED STRINGS OF LAMPS FOR PRINCIPAL STREETS.

System of Illumination Considered
More Effective Than Present Method.

After considering a number of new plans of standard construction of a permanent form of illumination there has been prepared and tried satisfactorily by several places a plan of installation of arched strings of lamps on the principal streets. The sketch shows the plan well.

The object sought is to increase efficiency of the lighting, preserve the harmonious effect, the gala appearance and reduce the lamp maintenance cost; also the consumption of current. An important item of the old scheme of lighting, even if it be necessary to continue it for years, is that it consumes an extraordinary amount of current for the effect it gives.

One of the troubles of the present system is that the swaying and whipping of the loosely swung festoon strings cause a large expense for lamp renewals. Investigation discloses that a curb light post will cost about $80 or $90 per post to install and light up. The largest item in the cost of installing a curb post is due to chiseling through concrete curbs and concrete street paving to lay conduits for underground wires. Curb post lights would be interfered with to a certain extent by rows of telegraph poles.

Each one of the arches is equipped with ten thirty-two candle power series tungsten incandescent lamps, giving a total of 320 candle power per arch as against 200 candle power in one of the present streamers. Each one of these lamps will be equipped with a special ornamental reflector to give even illumination over a large area and reflect all of the light which otherwise would be lost.

These reflectors are especially designed to redirect the rays of light at the most desirable angle for street illumination and increase the efficiency of the lamp nearly 50 per cent. This means that each arch will give a street illumination of approximately double that of the present festoon of lights.

A Village Night.

The city of Newton, Mass., which is made up of one large village and six or eight smaller ones, has inaugurated the pleasant custom of having an annual "village night," at which time all residents interested in the welfare of the city gather in some public hall and review the past and lay plans for the future.

Charging exorbitant prices makes patrons for the catalogue houses. Every merchant is entitled to fair profit, but when he marks up goods so as to make from 1 to 300 per cent profit he need not be surprised to note many in his neighborhood sending to some out of town establishment for what he wants so much profit on.

NEWARK PUTS BAN ON POPLARS FOR STREETS.

Roots of These Trees Obstruct City's Sewers.

At a recent meeting of the board of street and water commissioners of the city of Newark, N. J., a motion was passed requesting the shade tree commission to discontinue their own planting of poplar trees on the city streets and to prohibit the planting of them by private individuals.

This action was taken on account of the large and increasing number of obstructions to the city sewers and particularly to the house connections by the roots of these trees penetrating the joints of the pipes.

Out of fifty-six obstructions of all kinds in house connections reported in 1909 fifteen were caused by poplar roots. Up to the 1st of December, 1910, twenty-three out of a total of sixty-four obstructions since Jan. 1 had been from the same cause, and in November, 1910, the roots were responsible for five out of twelve obstructions.

The illustration shows two lengths of a six inch house connection split lengthwise to show complete stoppage by poplar roots.

WELL KNOWN MINISTER.

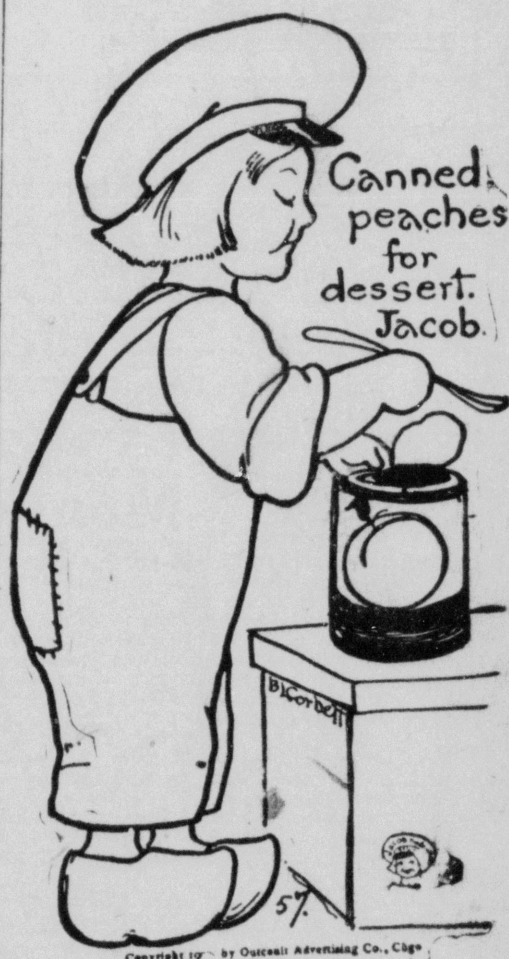

Restored to Health By Vinol.

Rev. D. Schneider, who is a well-known minister in Rice Lake, Wis., writes:

"I had a very severe stomach trouble last year from which I was kept in bed three months. I had engaged the services of a doctor, but to no avail. I then read of Vinol and determined to try a bottle. Before it was used up I was out of bed and 4 bottles made me a well man. Vinol is a splendid medicine and I can gladly recommend it."

Prominent men from all over the country do not hesitate to indorse this wonderful tonic.

For 12 years Vinol has been sold on the "money back" plan and every year strengthens its popularity and proves by continued tests that it will do all we claim for it. For sale by The Andrews-Schwenk Drug Co.
